Dear ETS member:

Welcome to the ETS National Meeting for 2000 at Opryland Hotel in Nashville. We can look forward to an interesting array of papers this year. The six plenaries cover topics ranging from Israel in the prophets, to a panel on issues related to Jewish evangelism, to how Christian Palestinians and Messianic Jews feel about the nation of Israel today, to why messianic congregations exist, to the future of Israel as a theological question. In addition, our presidential address by John Sailhamer will examine the Messiah and the Hebrew Bible. Finally, at this year's presidential banquet and in honor of our presence in Nashville, we have asked Jewish Christian recording artist Marty Goetz to lead us in an hour of song and worship with a Jewish flavor. It should be a great time. Be sure to plan to attend the banquet. Also for the first time our schedule is posted on the ETS web site (www.ETSJETS.org).

We had quite a list of paper proposals this year. In fact, we had over eighty more proposals than slots for papers. I can only express my regret that some good proposals had to be turned down. Please be sure to submit your topics again next year. If you have any questions before or during the conference, please let me know. I can be reached at DBockDTS@aol.com. I want to thank the staff of the hotel for being so kind in working with us on this meeting. Be sure and thank them as well. I hope you enjoy our 52nd annual meeting.

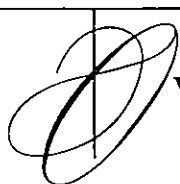

Sincerely,
Darrell L. Bock
President-Elect, ETS

Location and Facilities

The 52nd annual meeting will be held November 15–17, 2000, at

The Opryland Hotel
2800 Opryland Drive
Nashville, TN 37214-1297

A map to the hotel is included in this program, as well as diagrams of the rooms where the meetings will be held.

Rooms

The ETS room rate is $115 per night for single occupancy, $135 for double occupancy. Call the hotel at 615.883.2211 to make a reservation. Please identify yourself as a member of the Evangelical Theological Society for this conference rate. We have 500 rooms on Tuesday, 650 on Wednesday, 500 on Thursday, and 200 on Friday.

Discussion at Sessions

The ETS welcomes associate members and guests from the general Christian public to attend all sessions of the annual meeting. However, in welcoming guests it is also important that we protect the original purpose of the ETS as an academic society where scholars can come to interact with other scholars in their fields. Because time for such discussion is necessarily limited, we ask that only full members of the ETS (those with Th.M. or Ph.D. or equivalent degree) and student members currently enrolled in a Ph.D. program take part in the discussions following the paper presentations.

Timing

Each parallel session lasts 40 minutes. Since one of the primary purposes of the annual meeting is to give opportunity for scholarly interaction, presenters are asked to complete reading of their papers in about 25 minutes, or 30 minutes if absolutely necessary, leaving 10 to 15 minutes for interaction with listeners. In some cases, groups have planned shorter presentations and responses for those who received papers in advance of the meeting.

Tapes of Sessions

ACTS, Inc., will tape sessions again this year. Tapes may be purchased on-site or by calling 1.800.642.2287.

Israel Pictorial Display

The area behind booth 512 will display large photos of the Holy Land, compliments of Dr. Richard Cleave and Rohr Productions.

Conference Information

Job Interview Room

The area behind booth 506 will be available to post job opportunities and display resumes and can be used as an initial meeting and/or interview area.

Future Meetings

Next year's meeting will take place November 14–16 at the Broadmoor Hotel in Colorado Springs, Colorado. The theme for the meeting will be "Defining Evangelicalism's Boundaries."

Future meetings are tentatively planned as follows:

A RICH HERITAGE OF CHRISTIAN THOUGHT...

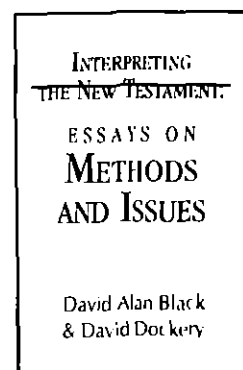

Muting the Masculinity of the Bible: The Gender-Neutral Bible Controversy

Vern Poythress and Wayne Grudem
The issue of Bible translation deserves careful reflection. Christians need to be aware of the problems with gender-neutral translations that inaccurately remove masculine language from the Biblical text—altering the meaning of the original text. Targeted to both the layperson and the academic reader, this important book examines the history of gender-neutral translations and the ensuing controversy.

Interpreting the New Testament: Essays on Methods and Issues

David Alan Black & David Dockery
This sequel to New Testament Criticism and Interpretation features essays comprising a representative cross section of current evangelical New Testament scholarship seeking to be responsible to the supernatural revelation of the New Testament while keeping abreast of current issues, trends, and methodologies. Interpreting the New Testament will enhance New Testament interpretation, teaching and preaching by providing a useful means of learning what the New Testament is all about and—whenever possible—the historical reasons why it speaks the way it does.

New American Commentary, Volume 3B: Numbers

Dr. Dennis Cole
Through a careful verse-by-verse examination, Dr. Cole reveals the historical truths in this crucial but somewhat unfamiliar text, examining its most challenging questions: Why did the people of Israel wander for forty years in the desert? Can God overpower the will of any human heart? Will God follow through with His promises even if man disobeys Him. Dr. Cole guides readers step-by-step with confidence through The Book of Numbers and its majestic themes of holiness, justice, and forgiveness.

When it comes to the Bible, there is a lot at stake for the church and the world. The God who addresses us through Scripture is central to Christianity. Without such an open book, the heart of Christianity is removed. Renewing Biblical Interpretation addresses the timely issues of appropriately interpreting this important book. For the past 150 years the Bible has been scrutinized in the academy, but in a way that has tended to confine it to the past. This way of reading texts is now being challenged in the context of the postmodern turn, so that all sorts of different ways of reading the Bible are now being proposed. However, the danger of these new developments is that we simply hear echoes of our own voices when we read the Bible. But not everything about the present "postmodern hour" is bad. We have a great opportunity to reassess the discipline of biblical studies from the foundation up and to forge creative new ways for reopening the book for our culture. Renewing Biblical Interpretation emerged from The Scripture and Hermeneutics Seminar, an annual—by invitation only—conference gathering leading Christian scholars in the fields of biblical studies, hermeneutics, and philosophy.

Zondervan Interpreting the Bible Series

The NIV English-Greek New Testament is an interlinear with a twist. Rather than starting with the Greek text and placing the English equivalent below, this volume places the English text (in the NIV) on the top line, with the Greek below it adjusted to the English. It also includes the Goodrick/Kohlenberger number and a parsing tag in two separate lines below the Greek text, allowing for analysis of each Greek form and easy access to the Zondervan NIV Exhaustive Concordance and other reference tools. For more in-depth studies of Greek this volume can be used with The NIV Theological Dictionary of New Testament words.

A vital companion to Mounce's NIV English-Greek New Testament, comes this abridgment of the four-volume New International Dictionary of New Testament Theology (NIDNTT). Written for those with a limited knowledge of biblical Greek, this book offers all the vital information in each of the present articles from NIDNTT. The NIV Theological Dictionary of New Testament Words has been written from a solidly evangelical viewpoint and it is organized according to Goodrick-Kohlenberger numbers, allowing for easier access to discussions of particular Greek words.

A Better Hope: Resources for a Church Confronting America, Capitalism, and Postmodernity

by Stanley Hauerwas

November 2000, 288 pages, paperback, 6 x 9, ISBN: 1-58743-000-2, $19.99

Stanley Hauerwas, professor of theological ethics at Duke University, has in the past three decades established himself as one of our most important and most disputatious theologians. In A Better Hope, he reflects on the challenges of the American church and explores how the church can faithfully survive in a peculiarly American Christian ethical system.

Border Crossings: Christian Trespasses on Popular Culture and Public Affairs

by Rodney Clapp

September 2000, 224 pages, paperback, 6 x 9, ISBN: 1-58743-003-7, $16.99

The usual modern assumption is that Christians are supposed to leave explicitly Christian convictions and practices behind when they engage public affairs and popular culture.

Rodney Clapp rejects that assumption and trespasses onto secular territory—from global corporations to Winnie-the-Pooh, from family values to The X-Files, from consumerism to Hank Williams and John Coltrane. He shows that "Christians can inhabit the world—public and private, body and soul—exactly as Christians."

"Rodney Clapp is perhaps the most perceptive contemporary Christian commentator on the intersection of society, culture, and the church. His latest work, Border Crossings, delivers what it promises—it sandblasts the divides between scholarship and popular discussion, public and private, church and world, and many more. This book is essential for scholars, pastors, lay Christians, and anyone else trying to make sense of faith, power, and discipleship in our strange times."

Taking Religion to School: Christian Theology and Secular Education

by Stephen H. Webb

October 2000, 250 pages, paperback, 6 x 9, ISBN: 1-58743-002-9, $19.99

Stephen Webb steps into the middle of current controversies about the place of religion in public high schools and universities. Speaking explicitly as a Christian theologian, but also as one who accepts the reality of religious pluralism, Webb argues that the teaching of religion is itself a religious activity, that teachers of religion should not disguise their own faiths in the classroom, and that high schools and universities should allow more—not less—space for religious voices.

"Taking Religion to School is an important book. It offers an exciting program for the future of teaching religion in universities and colleges. The intellectual climate of higher education in the U.S. has changed considerably in the last 20 years: 'scientific' models for the teaching and study of religion are dead or dying, and Webb's book will be an important element in replacing theirs with something better."

Paul Griffiths, University of Chicago

"Stephen Webb's Taking Religion to School is full of wisdom and wit, self-effacing autobiography and astute criticism of the educational industry. It will be useful for teachers of all sorts as they ponder what they are doing when they bring their own and their students' religions into the classroom, or keep them out."
